

A Strong Duo Becomes One: Grünig and SignTronic Merge to Form Grünig-SignTronic AG

What has grown over more than a decade is now official:

Grünig-Interscreen AG (Schwarzenburg) and SignTronic AG (Rüthi) have retroactively merged as of January 1, 2025. From now on, the two companies operate under the joint name Grünig-SignTronic AG.

This merger brings together two Swiss technology leaders in screen making process and creates a globally leading provider of fully automated and digitally integrated system solutions – covering the entire screen-making process from stretching and coating to exposing, washing, and decoating.

With over 55 years of mechanical screen-making expertise and cutting-edge digital imaging technologies, Grünig-SignTronic AG sets new standards in efficiency, precision, and workflow standardization.

“This is more than a merger – it’s a clear commitment to the future of our industry.”

— Marcel Grünig, CEO, Grünig-SignTronic AG

Both production sites – Schwarzenburg and Rüthi – will remain operational.

The organizational and visual transition will be completed gradually by the end of 2025.

Customers benefit from:

- Trusted contacts and continued service
- Seamless and well-integrated workflows
- Long-term support for existing systems
- Modular and scalable solutions
- Global support and close partnerships

This merger unites not only product lines, but two mindsets, two teams – and one shared vision:

To make industrial screen-making smarter, faster, and more sustainable.

Grünig-SignTronic AG – Together. Precise. Progressive.
